

Fellowship Awardees for 2011-2012

Nicholas Calandra

Sponsor: Boehringer Ingelheim
Yale University
Advisor: Seth Herzon

Biographical Information: Nick is currently a fourth-year graduate student working with Seth Herzon exploring the synthesis of hasubanan and related alkaloid natural products
Undergrad: St. Lawrence University, BS Chemistry

Daniel Tzvi Cohen

Sponsor: Organic Syntheses/Organic Reactions
Northwestern University
Advisor: Karl A. Scheidt

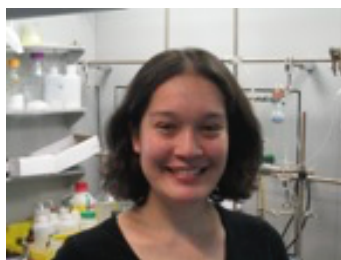

Biographical Information: Daniel is currently a fourth year working in Professor Karl Scheidt's Laboratory at Northwestern University studying annulation strategies in N-heterocyclic carbene-catalysis.
Undergrad: SUNY New Paltz, BA Chemistry

Kaid Harper

Sponsor: Organic Syntheses (Nelson Leonard Fellowship)
University of Utah
Advisor: Matthew S. Sigman

Biographical Information: Kaid is currently a 4th year graduate student working in Matthew Sigman's laboratory working on new methods to identify and optimize highly enantioselective catalysts using ligand libraries and free energy relationships.
Undergrad: Brigham Young University, BS Chemistry

Julia Kalow

Sponsor: Pfizer
Princeton University
Advisor: Abigail Doyle

Biographical Information: Julia is currently a fourth-year student in the laboratory of Professor Abigail Doyle. Her research focuses on the development of enantioselective nucleophilic fluorination reactions enabled by cooperative catalysis.

Undergrad: Columbia University, BA Chemistry and Creative Writing

Justin Malinowski

Sponsor: GlaxoSmithKline
University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill
Advisor: Jeffrey Johnson (advisor)

Biographical Information: Justin is currently a 4th year student in Professor Jeffrey S. Johnson's laboratory working on natural product synthesis and the development of new alpha-amination methodologies.

Undergrad: Siena College, BS Chemistry (ACS)

Lindsay Repka

Sponsor: Genentech
California Institute of Technology
Advisor: Professor Sarah E. Reisman

Biographical Information: Lindsay is currently a fourth year graduate student in Professor Sarah Reisman's laboratory studying new, enantioselective methods for the preparation of pyrroloindolines and unnatural amino acids.

Undergrad: Barnard College, BA Chemistry

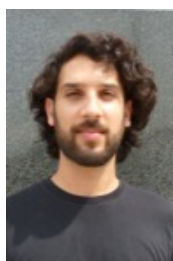

Joseph Tucker

Sponsor: Amgen
Boston University
Advisor: Prof. Corey R. J. Stephenson

Biographical Information: Joseph is currently a fourth year graduate student in the lab of Prof. Corey Stephenson at Boston University studying the application of photoredox catalysis in the realm of synthetic organic chemistry.

Undergrad: The College of William and Mary, BS Chemistry

Adam B. Weinstein

Sponsor: Organic Syntheses
University of Wisconsin-Madison
Advisor: Shannon S. Stahl

Biographical information: Adam is currently a fourth-year student in Professor Shannon Stahl's laboratory investigating stereoselective Pd-catalyzed oxidative aminations of alkenes that are coupled to molecular oxygen as the sole stoichiometric oxidant.

Undergrad: University of California, Berkeley, BS Chemical Biology
